GRETCHEN DICK
115 WEST 86TH STREET
NEW YORK CITY

January 3, 1933

Dear E. J.:

Just a hurried note, of importance . . . .

Call me when you come in!

You are singing Romeo on Monday and Canio on Friday - evenings. So eat breakfast early those days and don't eat so much oatmeal!

Must get some Paganini data from you and also want you to see the photos from the Times. Don't forget to take up the matter of the "Art" release for the Paganini picture.

Only just now got a response from the lawyer Gettner. He seems unwilling to compromise except on installments but I think he might settle for a round sum.

Hastily -

Gretchen.

P.S. Just got Mr. Gettner on the phone and will tell you what he said! - G.

Vérone, où j'ai dit deux familles rivales
Les Montaigus, les Capulets
De leur guerres sans fin
A toutes deux fatales
Ensanglanter le seuil de ses palais
Comme un rayon vermeil,
Brille en un ciel d'orage
Juliette Farid
Et Roméo l'aimé.
Et tous deux oublient
Le nom qui les outrage
Un même amour les enflamma!
Sont punis, aveugles colères
Ces malheureux amants
Payèrent de leurs jours
La fin des haines sanglantes
Qui virent naître leurs amours.